Program Summary

This one-day program provides "learn-by-doing" training for prospective advocacy skills faculty. Participants will receive instruction on the AGAI's teaching methodology and critique student performances in a simulated mock skills program setting. The faculty, in turn, will then evaluate the participants' teaching techniques.

Who Should Attend?

Attendees for this program have been nominated to participate by their division, program or office leadership. Please do not attempt to register for this program if you have not been invited to attend. Those who complete the program will be eligible to serve as faculty for Attorney General's Advocacy Institute and National Attorneys General Training and Research Institute litigation skills programs.

Who Is the Faculty?

DAG Jim Harris has served as a Deputy Attorney General in the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety for more than 25 years. During that time, he has worked in criminal justice, juvenile justice, and civil law. DAG Harris is currently Chief of the DCF South section. In the past, he has litigated cases for clients that include the State Police, the New Jersey Judiciary, the Department of Corrections, the Division of Youth and Family Services and the Bureau of Parole. He has had numerous jury and non-jury trials involving civil rights, employment discrimination, whistle blowers, child abuse and parental termination. He has successfully argued numerous cases before the New Jersey Supreme Court and the Third Circuit Court of Appeals. He is a graduate of Rutgers University of Law, Camden, where he was Managing Editor of the Law Journal. DAG Harris also has an LL.M from Columbia School of Law in New York City.

AAG Christine A. Hoffman is a Deputy Director of the Division of Criminal Justice and former Chief of the Division's Corruption Bureau. AAG Hoffman previously served as Deputy Chief of the Division's Major Crimes Bureau and Assistant Prosecutor with the Burlington County Prosecutor's Office. AAG Hoffman is a member of the Attorney General's Advocacy Institute faculty and the National Attorneys General Training and Research Institute faculty.
